

Creating Food Security

Challenges, Insights, and Solutions

Wednesday, September 30 · 6:30 pm–7:45 pm

Middleton Public Library, downstairs Archer Room (through the lobby stairwell)

Food security has been a prominent topic in the news lately. Whether it's rising grocery prices, upcoming eligibility changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), or alarming hunger statistics—there's a lot of information to sort through.

Join a panel of experts as they dive into this important issue. Learn what's behind the rise in food insecurity, how the food system works and how that has changed, and how our community can work together to ensure everyone has access to enough nutritious food to thrive.

FACILITATOR

Jocelyne Sansing, Library Director, Middleton Public Library

PANEL

Jackie Anderson, Executive Director, Feeding Wisconsin

Meghan Sohns, Vice President of Programming, WayForward Resources

Jen Wagner, Director of Medicaid Eligibility and Enrollment, Center for Budget and Policy Priorities

Nicholas Heckman, Food Systems & Food Security Coordinator, Public Health Madison & Dane County

Register for your free spot
Scan to learn more & sign up

Co-Presented by:

